Nanwil

Bryngwyn, Raglan, Usk, Monmouthshire, NP15 2DD

A unique and appealing rural smallholding situated in a sought after location between Raglan & Abergavenny. Nanwil is situated between the hamlets of Bryngwyn and Great Oak, in a very attractive position and enjoys a superb outlook towards Abergavenny and the Black Mountains.

The property comprises a modern construction agricultural building, being principally a steel portal framed building, which has been converted into two storey extensive residential accommodation.

The building has been occupied as a dwelling for over twelve years, with its residential use being regularised by a Certificate of Lawful Existing Use /Development (CLEUD) in 2007.

In addition to the principal residential accommodation, further storage buildings along with a utility room and workshop are accessed externally, situated around a courtyard style garden. A useful Dutch Barn building provides further external storage and a useful footprint for a potential replacement building.

Several prime grazing paddocks extend to the west towards the hamlet of Great Oak. The paddocks are all level and enclosed with hedges and mature oak trees, forming a tranquil setting. The property has significant appeal to any equestrian, smallholding or rural purchasers. In all Nanwil extends to approximately 3.5 acres.

Outside

Accessed via the rear patio area an enclosed Utility Room provides for plumbing for washing machine/driers with fitted Belfast Sink. This also houses the central Heating oil fired Boiler. An enclosed workshop/storage room is attached to the Utility Room.

An attractive and secluded courtyard patio, with enclosed raised lawned garden, landscaped courtyard and ornamental pond adjoins the rear elevation.

To the front aspect of the property is a private lawned area, with timber decked patio and several ornamental trees flanking the entrance driveway. Double wrought iron ornamental gates enclose the driveway from the council lane.

Barn & Paddocks

Situated to the east of the dwelling is an enclosed Dutch Barn building which offers scope for Storage or Stabling. The building provides a useful footprint should any purchaser wish to relocate a more modern general purpose building elsewhere on the property (subject to obtaining the necessary consents).

Extending west from the dwelling and outbuildings are several prime grazing paddocks which are level and surrounding by a number of splendid mature oak trees providing for a parkland style character. The paddocks have currently been consolidated into a single grazing enclosure, however have potential to be sub-divided further if required. An independent field gate provides additional access to the land from the Bryngwyn lane.
